Description

StartHub is a web application that provides users with a means to find awesome collaborators for their own startup ideas. StartHub has an interface that allows users to post project ideas that other members can join and to search people by skill, interest, or location. StartHub also allows users to discover, join, or share projects other members are posting. StartHub gives project ideas the opportunity to scale into startups and eventually full fledged companies.

Motivation

Two of the major inhibiting factors for creating startups is finding a like-minded team and finding a great idea. StartHub platform solves both of these factors. By connecting the community and through its features, StartHub helps its members contribute to the projects they are interested in.

Programming languages, libraries, frameworks, platforms
